We are still working under a substantively cis-centric—even if ostensibly trans-inclusive!—framework of gender equality under which trans women are analyzed in one way or another as gender-nonconforming males.

Pathologizing conception of transness and gender-affirming care

Essentializing conception of sex and gender

Transmisogynistic conception of trans women as "men [sic]" who "do wear dresses and makeup, or otherwise act femininely," Smith, 378 F.3d at 574 (emphasis in original)

Pathologizing conception of transness and gender-affirming care

We are still working under a substantively cis-centric—even if ostensibly trans-inclusive!—framework of gender equality under which trans women are analyzed in one way or another as gender-nonconforming males.

Essentializing conception of sex and gender

Transmisogynistic conception of trans women as "men [sic]" who "do wear dresses and makeup, or otherwise act femininely," Smith, 378 F.3d at 574 (emphasis in original)

A passable theory of (trans)gender equality must take seriously both the gender (the metaphysics and epistemology) and the equality (the political and legal philosophy).

My claim